Olga has 10 years of experience working globally within recruitment across the life sciences industry. She has excellent stakeholder management and industry acumen gained from recruiting at executive level and building C-suite teams for both pharma and biotech.

Olga is Colombian and she has been based in the UK for the last 11 years. Having previously lived in Germany for over 10 years has given Olga a wealth of exposure to several cultures, which has enriched her understanding of candidates' and clients' backgrounds.

With a master's degree in Psychology, Olga has developed excellent communication skills with a strategic view on identifying high-level candidates in the industry according to clients' expectations and their organisational culture.

She brings a successful track record in placing C-suite professionals at global level in several key areas including medical affairs, clinical development, market access, drug safety and compliance (QA & QC).

Prior joining Life Science Medics, Olga had been working in in-house talent acquisition within the clinical research space, covering the entire recruitment lifecycle. She brings experience in collaborating with local HRBPs, as well as liaising with hiring managers, external vendors and gaining substantial knowledge in clinical trials across EMEA.

What motivates you?

The diversity and yet complexity of working with high-achieving candidates and being able to identify and deliver the 'right' candidate to the 'right' team. Act as an advisor to both parties (clients and candidates).

Seeing both clients and candidates thrive in their journey together within a team and organisation.

What are you passionate about?

Travel, being outdoors, exotic food and cooking, spending time with my loved ones. I adore practising meditation and yoga.
